

file Syd Cove

4 SYDNEY COVE—OPERA HOUSE

Co-ordination Of Plans Urged

Mr Joern Utzon, the Opera House designer, said yesterday that planning for the redevelopment of the Sydney Cove shore should be co-ordinated with plans for access to the Opera House so the two would harmonise.

He said he would probably discuss traffic and pedestrian access to the Opera House with the Lord Mayor, Alderman H. F. Jensen.

Mr Utzon was commenting on a report that he had drawn up a plan for the redevelopment of the Sydney Cove area.

Mr Utzon said he had not drawn up a plan, but had made suggestions to the Opera House Committee about pedestrian and motor traffic access from the Quay to the Opera House.

Mr Utzon said he was still working on traffic and parking problems for the Opera House.

A number of schemes had been discussed.

Suggestion On Harbour Walk

Mr Utzon said that when he was commissioned to build the Opera House he had pointed out that people approaching it should get a full and undisturbed view.

Mr Utzon said that one of his suggestions to the Opera House Committee had concerned the walk from The Rocks to Farm Cove.

He said he did not know of anywhere else where a pedestrian had views of a harbour and its shores, an expressway, a bridge, city skyscrapers and a building like the Opera House.

He said that redevelopment of the shore should enable pedestrians to walk from the Quay to the Opera House with an undisturbed view of the building.

Removal Of Old Sheds

He expected that old wooden sheds on wharves on the east side of Circular Quay and the Naval building at Man-O-War Steps would be removed.

Mr Utzon said one of the matters which had been discussed with the committee was the possibility of North Shore people parking their cars on the north side of the Harbour and crossing by ferry to the Opera House.

Mr Utzon said the ultimate decision on the redevelopment of Sydney Cove and the Opera House area rested with the Minister for Local Government, Mr P. D. Hills.

Victim Of Basher Still Silent

The police vigil at the bedside of Mrs Pamela McLeod-Lindsay, victim of a basher, continued into the sixth day yesterday.

A Sutherland Hospital spokesman said that her condition was still improving slowly, but he could not estimate when she would be able to talk to detectives.

The detectives hope that she will tell them who bashed her and her four-year-old son, Bruce, in their home at Sylvania Heights last Monday night.

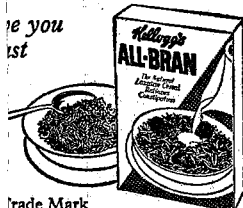

Mrs McLeod-Lindsay's husband found them unconscious in the house when he returned from work early on Tuesday morning.

ST

st ALL-BRAN
ularity

ENJOY IT: You can
-Bran with milk and rinkled over fresh or uit; or in combination her Kellogg's* cereal.
way you choose, you ll-Bran the safe way, the y, to relieve constipation ur general health.

ve you
st

Trade Mark
Trade Mark of Kellogg
d.

K666